

OUT ON THE LIMB
With George Vierhus

BELLS of Campbell are going to ring on the Fourth of July! Just how many will sound off at 11 a.m. next Monday is still a matter of conjecture. Unfortunately, there are not too many to be found in town. But what bells there are will ring out. We have been assured of that.

Last week The Press called attention to the nationwide observance that marks Independence Day with the ringing of bells. It has gained increasing support each year.

It is expected that bells in 20,000 towns from coast to coast will ring out for four minutes this Fourth of July.

A resolution by the State Senate, introduced by State Senator Clark L. Bradley, of Santa Clara County, urges all cities in the state cooperate in the bell-ringing observance.

It is the hope that it will mark the start of reviving a tradition that had its start on July 4, 1776 upon the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

IF WE SOUND enthusiastic about this revival of a lost tradition in our nation's heritage, it is because we are.

We also don't mind admitting that we get a catch in our throat when the Star Spangled Banner is played.

And we get goose pimples when the flag goes by.

This is an admission of a cynical old newspaperman, who somehow doesn't begrudge the six years in the army in World War II.

The ringing of the bells on the Fourth of July seems to us much more appropriate and much more meaningful than shooting off fireworks.

SO ANXIOUS were we to get the City of Campbell officially to join in this nationwide observance it was suggested in the front page blurb about bells last week that interested parties (especially those with bells) call the city hall. The city hall phone number was even listed.

We were eager that the City Council be informed before the council meeting last Monday.

Unfortunately, in the pressure of going to press we neglected to warn City Manager Bob Stephens about it.

We have been apologizing ever since.

The city hall started to get phone calls right after the paper was out.

WE KNEW the city hall people would cooperate. But that still was no excuse for this oversight on our part. Sorry, Bob, again. To Kay Green, Bob's efficient secretary, we are especially grateful. She patriotically swung with the bell calls and got our red face out of the belfrey. She quickly grasped the purpose of the bell-

Campbell bells to ring on 'Fourth'

By official proclamation Monday night, the City of Campbell joined 20,000 towns and cities in the nation that will participate in the "Bells on Independence Day" program next Monday, July 4.

The proclamation urges the citizens of Campbell to ring bells for four minutes starting at 11 a.m. as a step in the revival of a lost tradition of this nation's heritage which had its beginning on July 4, 1776 when the Declaration of Independence was signed.

Three local churches, Campbell Congregational, the First Methodist and St. Lucy's Catholic, on Monday informed the City Council by letter that they will join in the nationwide bell-ringing on the 'Fourth' which was the standard way of celebrating the day for 100 years after 1776.

Of the three churches participating, however, only the bell of the Congregational Church will be rung by the historical method of pulling a rope. Both the Methodist and St. Lucy's have electronic chimes.

The Congregational bell is of particular historical significance to Campbell, the letter signed by the new minister of the church, the Rev. Anthony Wayne Myers, pointed out.

The bell has rung for CHARRED EMBERS-- Blackened sticks of lumber are all that remain of what was formerly a two-story house at 237 N. Central which was completely destroyed by fire at 1:30 a.m. on June 22.

Less than two weeks before the fire, the long-time owner of the residence, Mrs. Minnie Neff, had been found dead in the structure. The house, vacant since the death of Mrs. Neff, who leaves no heirs, had been condemned by the city. Flames were already through the roof when the fire department was called. The station is less than two blocks away. Fire department officials are investigating the possibility of arson.

Engineer goes on Planning Commission

An electronic engineer, Edward L. Pack, 43, of 270 Monica Ln., will take his place for the first time on the Planning Commission at the meeting next Tuesday, July 5, at the City Hall at 8 p.m.

Pack has been appointed by the City Council to the commission to fill the vacancy created by the untimely death of E. Thomas Perry, West Valley College instructor.

Pack, a resident of Campbell for the past seven years, has been active in PTA activities.

He is a past-president of the Hamilton PTA and an officer in the Castlemont PTA. He and his wife, Margaret, have five children, Marjorie and Edward J., Jr., attending Campbell High; John at Monroe and Bob and Jeffrey at Castlemont.

The new planning commissioner, a native of Massachusetts and a graduate in electrical engineering of Northeast University in Boston, is employed in the Los Gatos office of

Council adopts budget

Campbell's City Council embarked on an austerity program for the next fiscal year on Monday night by adopting a minimum budget by which the tax rate remains the same.

But some of the councilmen expressed concern over whether they were tightening their belt a little too much.

Routine action on adoption of the city's budget for the fiscal year was delayed for almost two hours Monday night as the councilmen discussed some thorny policy questions raised by last-minute minor modifications to the bulky document.

Councilman Charles Rose led the opposition to a plan, worked out by City Manager Bob Stephens and Bill Wren, public works director. Rose basically objected to the allowance for only one inspector in the public works department instead of the two at present. He felt that a qualified inspector was more important than additional maintenance men or engineering aides.

The discussion over the need of inspectors led to the questions on the minor street repair program and other related and unrelated subjects.

The recommendation of the staff was finally given the approval of CAMPBELL TRADITION-- For more than 60 years the above pictured bell of the Campbell Congregational Church, 400 W. Campbell Ave., has called worshippers to Sunday services. Next Monday, July 4, the bell will join in the nationwide ringing marking Independence Day.

Prior to 1956, the church occupied the building now housing Campbell's city hall. On the right, Mrs. Lee Critchlow, church secretary tests the bell rope.

LOUD AND CLEAR-- On the "Fourth of July" at 11 a.m. Susie (left) and Kathy, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Wolf, of 1222 E. Campbell Ave., will assist in ringing this shiny brass bell which 10 years ago was on a S. P. steam locomotive. When the railroad converted to diesels, Wolf, a locomotive engineer, was able to acquire his engine's bell which now highly polished occupies an honored spot in the Wolf household.

FIRE BELL-- Mrs. Carol Davis, (right), fire department secretary, gets ready to give the bell at the fire department's swat with a hammer. Fire Captain John Butterfield stands ready to lend a hand.

The bell, in the early years of Campbell, was the town's lone fire alarm, located on Campbell Ave. It was moved to the new fire station and the clapper was removed when the siren was installed. At 11 a.m. on the 'fourth' it will sound off, with or without its clapper.

C.of C. exceeds 300 membership

As a result of the week-long drive during which time 17 new members were obtained by the Campbell Chamber of Commerce, the C. of C. total membership now exceeds 300 for the first time in history, Jim Duffield, Manager, reported this week.

In order to reach this coveted goal, during the past ten months, the Campbell C. of C. has added 170 members to its roster to rank among the largest chambers in the county.

Ken Mantle, New York Life representative in Campbell, who headed the "ambassadors' committee" responsible for the membership drive, was the drive winner, for both members and income received.

For being top "ambassador", Mantle and his wife will be awarded an expense-paid weekend trip to Las Vegas by the Chamber of Commerce, according to Dick Hardy, C. of C. president.

The 17 new members of the Chamber of Commerce include: Topaz Builders, Inc., George L. Quinn, 2000 Oakland Rd., S. J.; Don Stram, pastor, First Christian Church, 1975 Pollard Rd.;

Editorial

Let those bells ring

Campbell will officially join in the bell-ringing observance of the Fourth of July this year.

It may be only a minor clangor compared to what will happen in many of the other 20,000 towns and cities of the United States on Independence Day. But, at least, our community will recognize the day in a manner befitting it.

The bells will begin ringing at 11 a.m. on the Fourth of July and will ring out for four minutes.

The City of Campbell on Monday night officially recognized the observance and urged the citizens of this community to take part in the ringing of bells, large or small at 11 a.m. July 4.

This nationwide celebration with the bells revives an apparently lost tradition of our heritage which goes back to the first hundred years of our nation's life. For those first 100 years after July 4, 1776, the ringing of bells was the standard way of celebrating Independence Day.

Firecrackers came into the picture after the Civil War and their banging eventually drowned out the clanging of bells.

Your editor admits to his prejudice on the subject. The ringing of bells on the Fourth of July seems far more appropriate than shooting off fireworks. (And, as any fire chief will testify, much safer.)

The real meaning behind the noise-making on Independence Day seems to have been lost by the bangs.

The current nationwide movement back to the bells started on July 4, 1963 when more than 1000 bells rang in Frederick, Maryland.

The Campbell Press has attempted to uncover all the bells in town that could be rung on the Fourth of July.

Unfortunately, there are not many.

The biggest one that will be rung will be at the Campbell Congregational Church. Here is a bell that is wrapped in both the modern and past history of Campbell.

For more than 50 years it called worshippers to service at the old Congregational Church, which is now the City Hall, on Central Ave. In 1956 it was moved into the belfrey of the stately new church on W. Campbell Ave. and it has sounded every Sunday since.

We think it is particularly fitting that it will be rung at 11 a.m. next Monday, July 4.

According to historians, the original liberty bell in Philadelphia pealed the news of the signing of the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776.

Next Monday, July 4, 1966, will mark the 190th anniversary of that great day.

Unfortunately the bell of Independence Hall in Philadelphia, old "Liberty" herself, will not be able to join in the chorus. Experts feel that a few more strokes might widen the famous crack and destroy the bell completely.

The State Senate of California has adopted a resolution introduced by Santa Clara County's Senator Clark L. Bradley relative to "Bells on Independence Day" which is hoped will mark the start of reviving the tradition in California.

In Los Gatos, during a community picnic on the Fourth, a "freedom bell" will be rung at 11 a.m.

This particular bell was purchased two years ago with funds contributed by the community.

The Campbell Press would like to see a similar bell placed in the Campbell Park at Campbell and Gilman avenues. There are so-called "railway locomotive" bells available, we have learned, that could be purchased and installed.

The Press would be happy to take the lead in any community movement that would have as its objective the placing of a bell in the park which would ring out joyously every Fourth of July in the future.

The Press is willing to put its money where its mouth is.

But the contributions for a bell, we feel, should not come from one group, one club, one organization or one individual.

We would like to see this bell in the park placed there through the efforts of a great many people, including school children, teenagers, young and 'old' adults.

We make no apology that this paper, its editor and publisher, and its staff are sentimental when it comes to our American heritage.

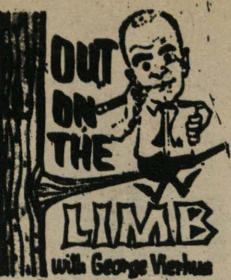

Our feelings, in this day and age, may be somewhat antiquated in face of the demonstrations of various kinds that have become so popular.

Yet, somehow we don't feel a bit guilty even in face of all these "antis" to advocate a demonstration of another kind, the ringing of bells on the Fourth of July.

Let freedom ring out loud and clear, we maintain.

We will even pull the bell-rope on Independence Day.

ringing idea for Independence Day and supported it wholeheartedly.

And Kay was born in England.

TRADITIONS and heritage perhaps get a bigger play in this column than some may think they deserve.

It is not that we think it is necessary to live in the past, yet we do think that we should not forget it either.

Take, for example, one of the bells that was "uncovered" and will be rung on the Fourth. It has an honored spot in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Wolf on E. Campbell Ave.

True that bell's history still involves the present era. But as the years go by its historical lore will become increasingly important.

DAN WOLF is a locomotive engineer for the Southern Pacific.

That shiny brass bell in the Wolf household is off the last steam locomotive that Dan ran (No. 2865) in 1957. The SP converted its last steam locomotive to diesel that year.

Dan was able to get the bell from his locomotive before the engine was scrapped. It is mounted with the same yoke that was on the engine and is on a 3-inch oak platform on casters which makes the 250-pound job fairly mobile.

The clapper, which will be responsible for the Wolf bell to join in joyous clanging on the 'Fourth', has been 'antiqued' with copper plating.

It is the real BELL of Campbell.

OR TAKE the bell that will be rung at the Congregational Church of Campbell on the 'Fourth of July'.

Incidentally, the Rev. Ben Gould of the First Methodist and Father John Lally of St. Lucy's plan to have their respective churches join in the bell-ringing on Independence Day.

The two churches have the electronic jobs. Their notes will add a great deal to the ringing 'Fourth'.

But the Congregational Church uses the old-fashioned rope method with a human being doing the work. No push buttons.

AND THAT BELL has local tradition.

For more than 50 years the bell was in the belfrey of the Congregational Church on Central Ave. It was moved to the new edifice on W. Campbell Ave. in 1956 where it rings every Sunday morning.

Of course, you know what has happened to the old Congregational Church on Central Ave. It was converted into Campbell's city hall. We don't mind telling you again. We like traditions.

Sunday services in Campbell for almost 70 years. For almost 60 years it was in the belfrey in the old church building on Central Ave., the structure that was converted into the present city hall in 1956 when the new church building was constructed at 400 W. Campbell.

The Rev. William H. Gould, minister of the First Methodist, informed the City Council, that his church will ring bells on the Fourth at 11 a.m. for four minutes and it is their plan for the next half hour to play traditional national hymns and songs.

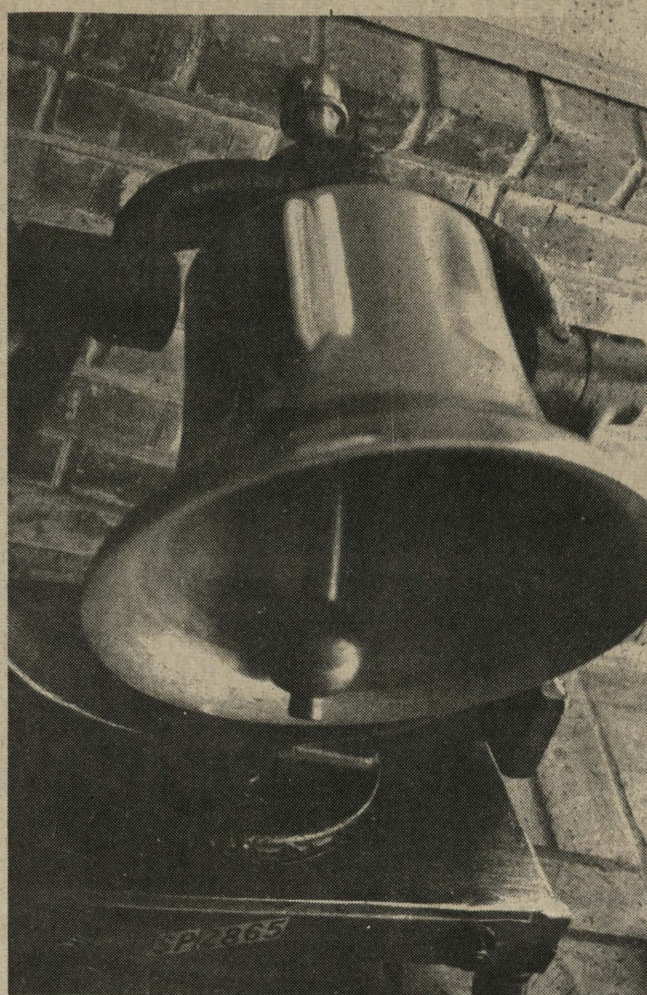

"This is in response to the suggestion of the Campbell Press that such be done," the Rev. Gould added in his letter.

Father John Lally in his letter to the council noted that St. Lucy's would be happy to participate in the Fourth of July bell ringing ceremony.

Although the modern churches and schools no longer, as a rule, use bells, The Campbell Press, in its efforts to locate bells that can and will ring on the 'Fourth', uncovered a number of bells in the community.

Among these was a former locomotive bell at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Wolf, at 1222 E. Campbell Ave., and another railroad bell was located at the B. E. Clifford home at 135 San Tomas.

The bell that years ago sounded the fire alarms for the tiny hamlet of Campbell and now located at the headquarters station of the Campbell Fire Department is also scheduled to be rung next Monday.

IT WILL RING--The above-pictured bell, which will be rung at 11 a.m. on the Fourth of July, formerly was on the last steam locomotive used by the Southern Pacific. Dan Wolf, of 1222 E. Campbell Ave., a locomotive engineer for the S. P. is the proud possessor of the shining brass bell.

This bell, which was replaced with a siren when the new fire station was built on Central Ave., is on a wall at the station. Its clapper has been removed.

But on the 'Fourth', even if the clapper cannot be found, Capt. John Butterfield, fire captain who will be on duty, has promised to ring it, if he has to use a hammer.

The revival of bell-ringing on the 'Fourth' began on July 4, 1962 and the public reaction since that time has been overwhelming. Many state legislatures, including the State Senate of California, have recognized the movement and have urged the ringing of bells next Monday, July 4, at 11 a.m.

The City of Campbell proclamation is a definite invitation for all citizens to ring bells, no matter how large or small, and to join in the nationwide chorus.

the council, with Rose the lone dissenter, and the budget was officially adopted.

The budget was adopted in two parts, operating and capital improvements and was the final step in the long-drawn out council budget sessions that began on June 13.

The capital improvement budget projects a six-year program tied into an anticipated bond issue to be voted upon next year. The only capital improvements for the next fiscal year will be street and storm drain projects financed from gas tax and storm drain bond funds.

In other actions, the council:

--INFORMED David Isely, of 195 Morrene Dr., upon the ruling of City Attorney Joe Bonacina, that the city had no leeway under the ordinance but to force him to use the Los Gatos Scavenger Co. refuse service which operates under a city franchise. Isely claimed he was adequately taking care of his rubbish disposal by other methods. He objected to the mandatory conditions.

After the council's action, Isely said he would contact his attorney.

--RECEIVED correspondence from the White House secretary and U. S. Senator Thomas Kuchel relative to the city's objections to the new postal regulation forcing curbside mail delivery in new subdivisions. Both letters expressed sympathy with the city's position.

--APPROVED a solicitor's permit for Carl Lantz for door-to-door selling of dictionaries.

--APPROVED the request of residents on the north side of Budd Ave. that sidewalks be put in paid for by the residents on the improvement district formula while the street improvement was going.

--APPROVED the plans and specifications and the calling of bids for Budd Ave. street project.

--REDUCED the city treasurer's bond on recommendation of City Attorney Bonacina from $50,000 to $25,000 and set the city clerk's bond at $50,000 and the city manager's at $10,000.

--DECIDED to personally inspect the camphor trees at 380 Nottingham before granting permission to move them.

Six teachers and five classes have been added to the current program to accommodate the student increase. The session ends July 29.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

On February 14 I wrote the President of the United States making certain suggestions designed to end the war in Vietnam. Two of these suggestions were for diplomatic conferences and a third for the calling of a Free Asian conference in the event the first two did not materialize.

This conference would include the United States, Australia and all Asian nations which have demonstrated a true belief in the right of self-determination and opposition to communist aggression.

The purpose of the meeting as I suggested it, would be to arrive at a free Asian policy on Vietnam, and for each country involved to assume the responsibility of carrying out a plan for resistance to communist aggression. This would require economic, financial, and military commitments by such countries.

The Administration claims to have exhausted every diplomatic approach, including my first two suggestions. It claims to have repeatedly vowed willingness to negotiate with "anyone, anywhere, anytime".

Though there is honest debate whether these offers have been made with too many "if's" and provisos, I think it is safe to say that no day has passed when the United States has not made a diplomatic approach aimed at securing negotiations.

Wed., June 29, 1966

The Campbell Press 7

Thus far, at least, the communists have refused to indicate any interest. If this is so, then the importance of my third suggestion--a Free Asian conference--is highlighted. On June 22, I had a rare opportunity to present my case directly to the President and Secretaries Rusk and McNamara. The President invited me, with thirty other Senators and Congressmen who had been in Vietnam, to an "off-the-record" discussion regarding our problems there.

This was my most unusual trip to the White House. Ordinarily we receive a "canned" briefing which supports the Administration position but this meeting was a true exchange of views. We met in the Cabinet Room and the President gave each of us time to say what was on our minds. Needless to say, I used my time to plug for a Free Asian conference. I emphasized how thinly we are spreading ourselves and how we cannot expect to police the world almost alone.

I am not at liberty to quote the President's reaction to my suggestions but I can say he listened attentively. I also saw Secretary Rusk making notes as I was speaking.

The meeting was significant for another reason. As a vocal critic of the lack of candor which the Administration has shown in telling Congress and the public about the Vietnam war, I am happy to say that this meeting was completely candid and frank. My past criticism still stands, but I do see a ray of hope that a new era of truth and candor may have begun. I got the feeling that the President, who admittedly faces one of history's toughest situations, needs and truly wants our cooperation, advice, and support.

If he will continue to inform the Congress with the candor and honesty which marked the meeting I attended, his relations with Congress--and the American people--will certainly improve.

JOHN C. HUMMEL
Postal Clerk John C. Hummel, 57, a resident of Santa Clara County for most of his life, died Tuesday in his home at 10552 John Way, Cupertino.

Letters to the Editor

VISITS SISTER CITY
Konstanz, West Germany
June 18, 1966

Editor, Campbell Press
Campbell, California

Dear Sir:

Our visit to the sister city of Campbell, Vohburg, West Germany, was in every respect a most pleasant undertaking. We were welcomed by the mayor, Mr. Hierhammer, and his gracious wife at their attractive home. During the day the mayor showed us the sights of the town. Must say that we were pleasantly surprised by the harmonious blending of the old and new. The history of Vohburg dates back to the seventh century. The river Danube is already a big stream here.

The British Petroleum Co. is at present constructing a large refinery here and is already employing a large force of men. This is bound to attract other industries so essential to any growing community. Mayor Hierhammer stated that the refinery will contribute a large amount of taxes in the future.

We also attended a council meeting and responded, in German, to the mayor's welcome speech.

May we say in conclusion that we were literally dined and wined by the city with all our expenses paid.

Sincerely yours,
Jerry & Emily VICK
130 S. Union Ave., Campbell

IN APPRECIATION
Dear George:

Can't remember how many letters of "thanks" I have written to the Campbell Press over the past sixteen years, but here I go again, thanking you for the picture and story about a couple of local swimmers appearing in last week's paper.

You know, there is a certain thrill over seeing ones son's or daughter's name in print. The clippings going out to distant relatives and into the family scrap book become treasured mementos. But more than this, it gives the "little fellow" a pat on the back as well as public recognition. This is something I think we all need once in a while--and especially the teenagers.

For this reason, I have particularly enjoyed reading about the accomplishments of our local youngsters in your paper. It's good to hear of the children who earn scholarships; who excel scholastically and athletically; who are selected to visit foreign countries; who participate in community affairs. And it's good for other teenagers to read about these things too.

If we had no home town papers like yours, we would seldom hear of the average "good kids". In today's troubled world, I think it is important to keep these things in their proper perspective, so I commend you for this service.

Sincerely,
Marge Schanck
1660 Mt. Vernon Dr.
San Jose

POSTAL SERVICE
Dear Mr. Vierhus:

We read with interest your editorial of June 8 regarding mail delivery and the United States Post Office Department. We concur wholeheartedly especially with the last four paragraphs. Very few editors in this country have brought this to their readers' attention as clearly and forcefully as you have.

We are enclosing a copy of a resolution that was passed by the California State Association of Letter Carriers at their convention held in May 1966. We would appreciate it very much if you would publish this in your paper. It clearly shows wherein lies the responsibility for the shoddy mail service.

Sincerely,
Raymond C. McVea
Secretary
ED. NOTE: The resolution, referred to by Mr. McVea, takes issue with a bulletin issued by the Post Office Department, entitled "Shoddy Mail Service Will Not Be Tolerated", which places the blame for the shoddy service on the employees.

The resolution cites directives, issued by the Post Office Department that the carriers claim have caused the deterioration of the service; among them is the restriction of new city delivery to curbside boxes.

The resolution urged the Post Office Department to examine its own operations and rescind the curtailments before making further accusations about poor mail service.

Col. Neal Royer goes to seminar

Neal Royer, superintendent of the Campbell Union (elementary) School District and a colonel in the United States Army Reserve, is attending the 1966 Defense Strategy Seminar of the National War College in Washington, D. C.

Col. Royer was among the 200 reserve, National Guard and marine officers selected throughout the United States to attend the seminar. The educator, who has five years of World War II service and a total of 21 years with the National Guard, is a staff officer in ordnance in the 15th Corps Control Group of the National Guard. He was promoted to full colonel in February of this year.

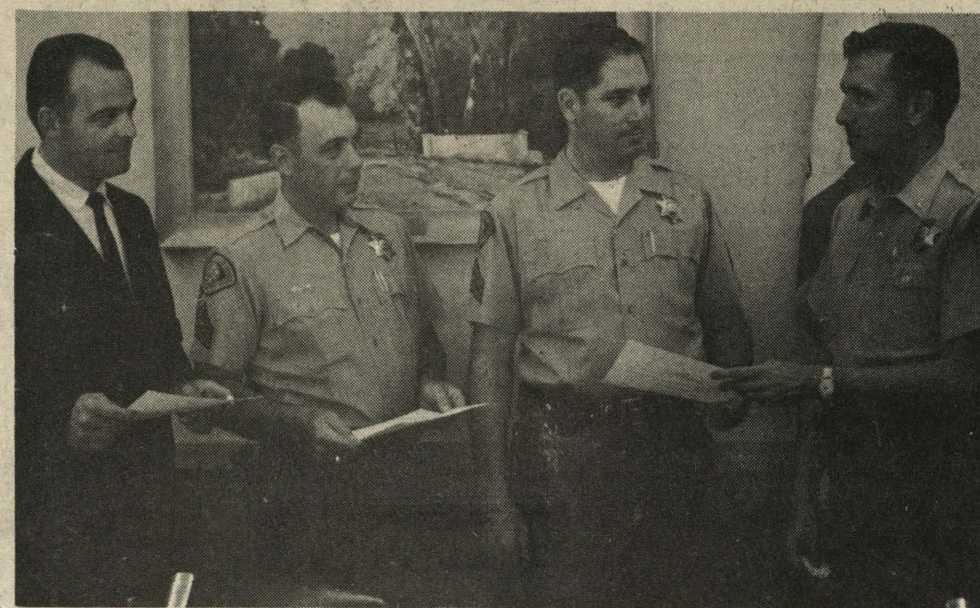

He left the service after World War II as a captain and has been promoted three times in the National Guard since serving in the Campbell school system. Royer's wife and two sons accompanied him to the two-week Washington assignment.

a draftee and former science major at West Valley College, was the 1,000th man at Fort Ord to switch from inductee status to Regular Army. As Capt. Jansen explains, "M (for 1,000) plus three (years) equals Reenlistment." Private Whitney will take Basic Combat Training at Fort Ord and then attend a 19-week school for Pershing Specialist, a surface to surface ballistic missile, at Fort Sill, Okla. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ford L. Whitney, 880 Sweetbriar Dr., Campbell. (U. S. Army Photo)

dicating that they had completed advanced training on Peace Officer Standards and Training course conducted by a state com-

Bank promotes Larry R. King

Promotion of Larry R. King to assistant cashier and head of the Timeplan Department of Bank of America's Willow Glen Branch in San Jose has been announced by Bill Freitas, manager.

An economics graduate of the Brigham Young University at Provo, Utah, King joined the bank as a special trainee in 1964. While in Campbell King served as chairman of the Division of Commerce and Industry, United Fund, and was active in the Chamber of Commerce. He is a member of the High Council of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

King and his wife, Diane, are parents of two daughters; Kristine, 2, and Stephany, 1. They reside at 883-B Jean Dr., Campbell.

VOLUNTEERS--Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Acord, of 4209 N. Payne, Campbell, have volunteered to serve two years as vocational missionaries at the Church of Christ Mission in Saigon.

The couple, who are members of the Church of Christ in Campbell, will teach conversational English, vocation and religious subjects to South Vietnamese orphans and refugees. Acord was formerly employed by Western Electric in Sunnyvale and wife Evelyn is a technical clerk for the firm.

Safeway ad manager retires

Warren E. Jorgensen, 63, a advertising manager for Safeway Stores Incorporated, San Francisco Division, since 1942, will retire August 1, 1966. He currently handles all advertising activities for the Division's 202 stores, administering a budget of three million dollars annually.

A native of Remson, Iowa, Jorgensen moved to Berkeley, California in 1919, where he attended Berkeley High School and University of California. After leaving college in 1925, he held a number of advertising, sales and management positions, with the San Francisco Examiner, the Fresno Bee, the Coast Banker and the Sacramento Bee.

Jorgensen and his wife, Alta, who recently celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary, now reside in Burlingame. They have a married son, Warren Jr., who makes his home in Millbrae.

Gene L. Bown, 28 year veteran employee of the food firm, succeeds Jorgensen. Bown started his Safeway career in 1938, as an apprentice meat cutter in Vancouver, Washington. In 1941, he was promoted to meat department manager in Portland, and in 1945, was transferred to the staff of the advertising department of Safeway's Portland Division.

He was appointed advertising manager of Safeway's El Paso, Texas Division, in 1955. He has served as Sacramento Division Advertising Manager from 1959 to the present time.

Bown was born in Nampa, Idaho, in 1918. As a child he moved with his family to Portland, Ore., where in 1941, he met and married his wife Bernice.

One-car crashes pose threat to holiday travel

The greatest threat to a "safe and sane" Fourth of July holiday on California's streets and highways is the crash in which only one automobile is involved, according to Bradford M. Crittenden, commissioner of the California Highway Patrol.

"Each holiday single-car wrecks account for half or more of all the persons killed in traffic accidents. These involve vehicles that run off the roadway and either overturn or crash into some unyielding object.

They also involve drivers who lose control of their cars for some reason.

REMOVING BUMPS-- That bumpy railroad crossing on Campbell Ave. at Harrison was vastly improved this week. The crossing is also the location of Campbell's miniature park that marks this city's landmark, the two stately 80-year old walnut trees. The work is being done by a Southern Pacific crew.

SIGNALS WORKING-- Traffic signals at Campbell and Union Avenues went into operation during the past week. Despite the warning signs of "signal ahead", there was still a lot of rubber burning before the regular travelers of heavily-traveled Campbell Ave. got used to the idea.

Highway agency tells causes of accidents in 3-day period

Human carelessness, drinking drivers, unpredictable acts by animals, emotional disturbances and physical defects were all to blame for accidents coded by the California Division of Highways during a recent three day period.

Reports of all accidents occurring on state highways are studied by the Division because such research sometimes provides facts that can be used in eliminating some physical conditions that can contribute to accidents.

"A check of the reports we receive during any working day proves the need for drivers to stay alert, assume the unexpected will happen, and drive defensively at all times," State Highway Engineer J. C. Womack said recently. "People who follow these rules stand the best chance of not coming to grief--especially at times such as the coming July 4 weekend when so many cars will be on the highways!"

Womack cited carelessness as the reason for a mishap that began when a door secured with rope came open, the driver's wife fell out, and he was injured when he swerved from the highway.

Emotional instability was to blame in the case of the man who thought God told him to turn the steering wheel loose.

After another single car accident, it was discovered by the Highway Patrol that the driver not only was unlicensed, but receives a pension because he is blind.

A driver who had been drinking ran into the side of a bridge and escaped unscathed until he got out to check the damage, fell off the bridge into the river below, and broke his leg.

Womack believes that none of these accidents would have happened had the legal drivers been alert and the illegal drivers not broken the law.

"The California Transportation Agency is doing everything it can to stop highway accidents. Its three units--the Division of Highways, the Department of Motor Vehicles, and the Highway Patrol--are working overtime on accident prevention.

"We cannot succeed, however, unless we can enlist the support of all responsible drivers but with their help, we can go far."
